(54) Title: CHEMICAL COMPOSITION AND USES

(57) Abstract: A product comprising separate compartments, contains first and second components of a composition and a catalyst for a reaction between the two components. In use, the two components are combined together to form the composition, preferably a cleaning composition, whose temperature is elevated when compared to the temperature of the components prior combination, providing improved performance. Method of manufacture, method of cleaning a surface, a kit, and an applicator means are disclosed.
